Our Take: As its name suggests, this lavish hotel boasts an enviable location in Gramercy Park. But that's not all this hotel has going for it. This trendy boutique features a decadent design, enhanced with rich jewel tones, Moroccan tiles and plush red curtains. And the opulence extends to the well-appointed accommodations, which feature bold bronze and mahogany accents and upscale amenities, such as sumptuous down comforters, 400-thread-count linens, hand-made rugs, large flat-screen TVs and lavish bath products. Should you be able to pull yourself away from your extravagant digs, you'll find a variety of venerable in-house institutions to wine and dine, including Maialino New York City, a traditional Italian Roman-style trattoria, Gramercy Terrace, Rose Bar and Jade Bar. While some previous visitors bemoan the hotel's exorbitant nightly rates, others claim that the immaculate service, stylish surroundings and unbeatable location are well worth the splurge.
